TREASURY DEEP MINES STACKED WITH WEALTH

Statement Issued Concerning Equipment and Method of Sinking Shaft

The Goldfield Deep Mines company has issued what it terms an analytical statement. The most interesting item is that of $65,262 cash in the John S. Cook bank. Equipment value is placed at $101,941. The shaft of the Deep Mines company is equipped with an 80-foot steel head frame and a 200 horse power double drum electric hoist, air compressors, machine shop and all other machinery and apparatus for sinking.

Regarding the shaft construction the circular says: Four machine shafts at one time and the opening is carried down nine feet wide and 22 feet long, making this shaft of unusual size. When the timbers are placed the shaft measures five feet wide and 17 feet 4 inches long. With each foot of depth gained 15 tons of broken rock must be hoisted up into buckets. When five feet of depth is gained in 24 hours the miners, working on three 8-hour shifts, must drill and shoot a five-foot round, muck out 75 tons of broken rock, place a set of timbers, ladders, guides and pipes. The shaft timbers are 12x12 inch, and some of them are 20 feet long. Back of these 12x12 pine lagging are placed and the entire distance is solidly timbered.

In conclusion the circular says: Goldfield Deep Mines company is not pioneering in an unproved district nor in an unproved business; it simply and quietly acquired the ground in which the great vein exists. It is known to exist, a vein that has produced $100,000,000 from the upper levels, and is sinking a working shaft to cut and mine that vein at a point where scientific study indicates the most logical place for the ore deposition.

ORE VEIN NEAR AT GIBRALTAR NEW CROSSCUT

Slow Progress Made Owing to Ground Becoming Harder Than Heretofore

Operations at the property of the New Gibraltar Mining company are being prosecuted with great vigor and a force of 12 men is being employed at the present time. Work in the advance of tunnel No. 3, which is a crosscut, is going steadily forward, and while it was expected that the objective would be reached ere this the ground hardened with white spar putting in its appearance. The result has been that progress has been quite slow. The vein is supposed to be close at hand, and for the last several feet stringers of exceptionally good grade ore, showing silver bromides have been put in their appearance, and the outcome of developments on this level are being awaited with much interest.

The New Gibraltar Mining company has been liberally financed, and the property being developed, which has been termed a "silver mine upside down," shows one of the largest ore bodies near the surface ever discovered in any out-district from Tonopah, in southern Nevada. Ore of commercial value has been proven in two tunnels, which gives a depth of practically 200 feet, and the new tunnel, known as No. 3, will give an additional back of over 125 feet. From this level it is proposed to sink a winze when the vein has been intersected and if the ore shoots show signs of persistency then another tunnel, or crosscut, will be started nearer the base of the mountain. When completed the mining of ore will be reduced to a minimum, and with the construction of a modern up-to-the-minute mill plant, it will be possible to handle the product at the very lowest possible cost, thus eliminating the expense of transportation which has been a drawback to the district for such a long period.

ALASKA MINING MAN IS PLEASED WITH TONOPAH

James J. Godfrey, President of Mother Lode Copper, Interested in Tonopah-California

James J. Godfrey, president of the Mother Lode Copper company of Alaska, which company holds the record for low cost copper production and whose stock is listed on the New York stock exchange, has become connected with C. W. Geddes in the development and operation of the New California Tonopah Mining company.

The Mother Lode Copper company is controlled by the Kennecott Copper company, which in turn is controlled by the Guggenheim-Morgan group of financiers, and Kennecott has been spoken of as the holding company for the big copper merger which is supposed to control Utah Copper, Nevada Consolidated, Ray, Chino and Choll Copper.

Mr. Godfrey is one of the most aggressive operators in Alaska where he has made a large fortune through his holdings in Mother Lode and Kennecott and other companies.

Inspection of the workings of the New Tonopah California after resuming operation shows them in perfect condition down to the 700 level, with no water to hamper operations.

LITTLE CHANGE IN STANDING OF THE CANDIDATES

Three Precincts Remain to Be Heard From but Little Change is Expected

All but three outside precincts have made returns to the county clerk showing results of the election held on Tuesday. The absent vote was cast at Sharp, Sunnyside and Ash Meadows, but the latter precinct made return but failed to furnish a marked ballot showing the result. The count today shows that Frank T. Curlew for auditor and recorder of 69.

In regard to the election of assemblymen the result remains unchanged, and the election of W. A. Marsh, Louise M. Hays, Charles D. Keough and D. J. Robb, seems to be a certainty.

RAILROADS ASK PRIVILEGE OF LOWERING RATE

Application is Denied by Interstate Commerce Commission At Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11—Applications of transcontinental railroads for authority to decrease rates to and from the Pacific coast terminals on traffic originating east of the Rocky mountains, or destined therefor, were denied by the interstate commerce commission.

The roads had declared a reduction necessary to enable them to meet coast-to-coast competition of steamship lines. The granting of the application, which was challenged by a number of intermountain cities, included Spokane, Salt Lake City, Reno and Phoenix and would have resulted in making transcontinental rates generally lower than those on traffic to and from intermediate points.

WATER COURSE IN EVIDENCE AT GREAT DIVIDE

No Ore Vein Encountered on 1300 Level as Reported in Another Publication

An increased flow of water has been encountered on the 1400 level of the Tonopah Divide mine and a two-inch stream is now in evidence, due presumably to a water course having been struck in the advance of the south crosscut. It becomes necessary to bail every 24 hours in order not to retard operations. No vein has been intersected on the 1300 level as reported in another publication, although small seams of ore were recently encountered. In fact no work has been performed on the level for some time. On the 1400 level it is expected that the crosscut will penetrate the big vein within the next few days. According to the dip as judged from the 1200 level, the vein lies about 40 feet distant on the 1400 level.

Official report of operations for the week ending Wednesday, Nov. 8, follows: 205 intermediate east drift was advanced four feet; 401 drift was advanced 25 feet; 425 east drift was advanced 14 feet; 205 intermediate north crosscut was advanced 125 feet; 234 north crosscut was advanced 213 feet; 425 south crosscut was advanced 95 feet; 1200 south crosscut was advanced 22 feet; 1400 south crosscut was advanced 195 feet. Total development, 1618 feet.

BUCKHORN PROPERTY HAS GOOD SHOWING

Excellent progress in development is reported from the Buckhorn property at Stone Cabin recently taken over by the Wilson Divide Mining company. The showing on the 160 level where a cross vein was picked up a short distance to the north of the shaft, is reported as improving and considerable ruby silver is showing in the small streaks of ore that have been putting in their appearance of late. When conditions have become normal it is the intention of the management to give the shaft another lift and indications are favorable for the ore shoots being found to be persistent.

AMERICA SEALS COVENANT OF GREATEST FAITH

President Makes Pilgrimage to Arlington Cemetery in Behalf of Countrymen

MESSAGE NO SPOKEN WORD

Consisted of Simple Wreath and Guns Roared Our National Salute

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 11—On a plain granite block in Arlington cemetery that a year ago became a new shrine to American ideals that blossomed today a wreath of flowers laid reverently there to commemorate the first anniversary of the homecoming of America's unknown soldier from France. Again the nation sealed the covenant of American faith in their promise, beside the grave now covered by a massive headstone and the atop a plume of the wings of the day, contrasted against the majesty of pomp and splendor of a year ago in the same beauty of setting served to add a new glory to that which is idealized in blood this humble soldier shed in France. The high purpose in that is Americanism.

Again President Harding made a pilgrimage from Washington in the half of his countrymen, but this time the message he bore was no spoken word, but a simple wreath of flowers. Guns roared the national salute in honor to the dead alone broke the stillness to voice the pride of the nation.

The four secretaries to Weeks accompanied the president as did the four secretaries to Denby. They completed the group which carried to the tomb tokens of remembrance that were placed for all nations. The only touch of ceremony was that lent by a clattering of a troop of cavalry which escorted the presidential party. There were many others who took occasion to pay tribute to the unknown. Among them were General Pershing, for himself and other comrades of the dead in France. The general could not so in person for he had been called to New York, but an aide bore a wreath to the great stone around which flowers were laid as the day wore on.
